PANAMA SPLITS WITH U.S.

—ADLAI DENIES AGGRESSION—

Panama Declares U.S. Must Leave

United Nations, N.Y., Saturday (UPI) — The President of the U.N. Security Council early today appealed to the United States and Panama for an immediate cease-fire in the strife-torn Central American republic.

Both countries welcomed the appeal by Renan Castrillo Justimano, made with the consent of the council, and U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson declared the United States "will comply in letter and in spirit."

The action came near the end of an emergency session at which the 11-nation council heard Panama declare the Panama Canal must be taken out of U.S. hands and either nationalized or placed under international control.

Red Reservations

Despite reservation by the Soviet Union and Communist Czechoslovakia, the council agreed to a U.S. suggestion that U.N. actions be withheld pending peace missions being carried out by special envoys of President Johnson and by the Inter-American Peace Commission.

Panama's demands were voiced by Ambassador Aquilino Boyd who charged the United States with aggression in connection with the widespread disorders in Panama.

Stevenson denied any aggression. He asserted that the United States was simply acting to protect lives and property inside the Canal Zone.

The council adjourned at 12:34 a.m. EST.

U.S. Ready

Stevenson stated that the United States is "ready through direct negotiations with the Panamanian government to try to resolve such differences as may exist."

The U.S. delegate suggested that the council should withhold any action on the Panamanian problem pending the outcome of the mission being undertaken by the Inter-American Commission to Pan-

The urgent meeting was called at the request of Boyd, who formally charged the United States with aggression.

Before the council convened Boyd expressed hope the council would take whatever action was necessary to halt the bloodshed, including the dispatch of a U.N. police force or some other U.N. group to the area.

Hurried Back

Boyd, who was in Panama when the disorders broke out Thursday night, hurried back with documents to back up charges of U.S. aggression against Panama. In statements to the press he bitterly attacked the United States.

In a peace move, U.S. chief delegate Stevenson telephoned Boyd shortly after his arrival in New York and expressed regret "at the tragic loss of life and violence and disorders." He expressed hope that the U.S. delegation could help restore order and resolve the dispute.

Stevenson also issued a statement to the press declaring: "We hope the citizens of both sides of the Panama Canal Zone will behave temperately. Our first goal is to restore order and then to investigate the facts about this unfortunate development."

Urgent Matters

Boyd asked the council president that the council meet "as soon as possible in order to examine urgent matters relating to the serious situation existing between Panama and the United States because of the canal that is now an enclave in our territory." Boyd's letter said (unofficial translation from Spanish):

"Since yesterday Panama has become the victim of a bloody aggression resulting in the death of 20 people and more than 300 wounded, thus threatening international peace and security."

PANAMA BOUND . . . Cyrus Vance, front, and Thomas Mann go from copter to plane.

LBJ Tackles First International Crisis

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson grappled Friday with his first grave international crisis. He phoned Panama's president and hurried a special mission to Panama City in an effort to halt killing of Americans and Panamanians in the Canal Zone.

Johnson telephoned directly to Panamanian President Roberto Chiari Friday morning and then ordered a peace-making mission to Panama City by jet. But fighting continued and death rose through the day.

The Organization of American States announced late Friday that the United States and Panama have agreed to let the Inter-American Peace Commission mediate their dispute.

Earlier, the government of the little Central American republic had announced it is denouncing the treaty under which the United States operates the 40-mile canal linking the Caribbean Sea and the Pacific Ocean. In diplomatic language, denouncing a treaty means serving notice a country will no longer observe its terms.

U.S. officials said there is evidence that Castroites and other Communists had stepped into the rioting to some degree. Although not charging the outbreak was planned by Reds, Undersecretary of State George Ball told congressmen

Cites 'Unmerciful' Aggression In Riot . . . OAS AGREES TO MEDIATE

Panama (UPI) — Charging "unmerciful aggression," Panama Friday broke diplomatic relations with the United States and denounced the 61-year-old canal treaty following violent clashes that left 20 dead in Panama and the Canal Zone.

The Panamanian government claimed that U.S. soldiers guarding the Canal Zone's borders opened fire again Friday night, wounding six more Panamanians. It said the gunfire erupted near the National Legislative Palace and the National Institute.

Hundreds more were reported wounded in gun fights Thursday night and Friday.

The U.S. Army announced grimly that it was striving to protect the 36,000 Americans and the installations in the zone.

But on orders from President Johnson the U.S. Embassy in Panama City was abandoned in the face of possible mob violence and its secret papers were burned.

Personal Call

Not even a personal telephone call from President Johnson to Panama's President Robert Chiari could calm inflamed passions about sovereignty of the zone and the right of Panamanians to fly their flag there.

Foreign Minister Galileo Solis accused Canal Zone police of U.S. Army of inhuman actions in attacking a group of about 50 Panamanian students who tried to fly their flag in front of an American high school in the zone.

The United States announced that three American soldiers were killed and 46 wounded.

Much American property in the Republic of Panama was destroyed.

Thomas C. Mann, U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American affairs, arrived as Johnson's personal representative. He immediately went into conference with Zone Commander Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara.

Communist Cuba and Russia jumped delightedly into the fray between the United States and one of its weakest but most strategic Latin American neighbors. It was the first major foreign policy crisis of the Johnson administration, now less than two months old.

Peaceful

Moscow radio claimed American troops had opened fire on a peaceful student demonstration. It asserted that "public indignation has been aroused throughout all Latin American countries."

Havana newspapers headlines: "Yankee massacre in Panama."

General O'Meara said "we are conducting a holding operation" to safeguard U.S. installations and the thousands of Americans in the zone. He said that, despite contrary reports, U.S. forces have not moved out of the zone.

Despite Panama's denunciation of the operating treaty, the canal continued to work normally. Denunciation means notice of termination of the treaty.

Surprise

The sudden violence took most people by surprise, although the flag issue is decided old.

A major source of Panamanian hostility is a clause in the 1903 canal treaty — a triumph of President Theodore Roosevelt — giving the United States perpetual control over a 10-mile wide strip from the Atlantic to the Pacific through which the canal runs.

After somewhat similar street riots in 1959, the United States agreed that Panama had titular — though not actual — sovereignty and agreed that the flags of both countries be displayed side by side.

"We should have some visual evidence that Panama does have titular sovereignty over the region," the then President Eisenhower said.

All Facilities

Solis' note to Secretary of State Dean Rusk breaking diplomatic relations said Panama would make use of all facilities of the Organization of American States (OAS) and international organizations — including the United Nations — "to achieve a just indemnification of the dead and for the injured and for property destroyed."

The OAS said in Washington that both sides had agreed to its mediation and an investigating team would be dispatched immediately.

American property was destroyed by roving mobs in the Republic of Panama. Listed as burned were properties of Sears Roebuck, Braniff Airlines, Pan American Airways, Kodak, and the First National City Bank of New York.

Prompted

Carl Davis, embassy public affairs officer, said reports that mobs were about to storm the embassy prompted the move to burn the secret records. All U.S. personnel were evacuated with the exception of the ambassador.

C. C. Sheldon, Public Power Leader, Dies

Columbus (UPI) — C. C. Sheldon, long-time Nebraska power figure, died in a Columbus hospital Friday at the age of 92.

Sheldon helped organize the Loup River Public Power District in 1933 and Consumers Public Power District in 1939.

Consumers' power station at Hallam is named Sheldon Station in his honor and began producing atomic power on May 29, 1963, his 92nd birthday.

Sheldon served as the first treasurer and a director both of the Loup River and Consumers districts. He continued in these capacities with Consumers until his retirement in 1960.

He also was a conservation leader and was affiliated with the Mississippi Valley Association. He was elected to its executive committee in 1947.

Sheldon was on the board of directors of the Columbus YMCA for 40 years and donated land near Columbus for the YMCA's Camp Sheldon.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Federated Church in Columbus.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, Chauncey and Charles II, both of Lincoln, and two daughters, Mrs. H. D. Hunter and Mrs. R. P. Nelson, both of Columbus.

Attack Claims Harry Pizer

North Platte, Neb. (UPI) — Word was received here Friday of the death at 66 of Harry Pizer, speaker of the Nebraska Unicameral in 1959 and a 10-term lawmaker who first served in the old House of Representatives in 1935.

Pizer died at the Los Angeles home of his brother, Joseph. Pizer Word of the death was received by Robert Lowe of North Platte, who represented Pizer in some business matters. The veteran Nebraska lawmaker was a native of North Platte, and attended schools at North Platte, Wentworth Military Academy, the University of Nebraska and the University of Colorado.

He died of the apparent heart attack at 1 p.m. Friday afternoon.

Dr. Ivy Says Cancer Drug Will Be Proven.

By NANCY RAY

Star Staff Writer

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, a name usually linked with the hottest controversy brewing in scientific circles, told his side of the story of the much-maligned cancer drug, Krebiozen, to a Union College student audience Friday.

Dr. Ivy, world famous medical researcher and physiologist, appeared at Union College in connection with the school's tobacco and alcohol education week activities.

Dr. Ivy, the most illustrious of the spokesmen for the cancer-retarding Krebiozen, explained his reason for taking a stand against the American Medical Association and American Cancer Society: "I am trying to prevent the truth about Krebiozen from being covered up."

Controversy

His efforts have led to national and international publicity for the drug, and stirred up a controversy which Dr. Ivy comments "is really only a controversy about testing and not about the scientific aspects of an anti-cancer serum."

Dr. Ivy, now professor emeritus at the University of Illinois, lays his more than 40 years of research, honors and degrees on the line for the Krebiozen cause. "I know it will win out. It will be available to everyone in the future. It may come under a new name, but it will come."

He described the drug — which he admits is still in the experimental stages — as a powerful inhibitor of cell growth, which can be measured in effectiveness only by its ability to reduce pain, restore cancer patients back to health and, eventually, reduce the size of the cancerous growth.

He traced the history of the drug from its beginnings in 1951, noting that both the American Medical Association and the American Cancer Society have refused to run a test on the drug's effectiveness on human cancer. Another organization, the National Cancer Institute, at first agreed to run such an unbiased test, but later backed down under pressure from other groups, Dr. Ivy said.

"I do not know the reasons for these fellows on the witness stand."

The physiologist related the history of one of his patients now under Krebiozen treatment:

"She had brain cancer, with severe headaches, loss of sight, and she was unable to walk when she started treatment."

"As she began treatment, the headaches went, and as the dosages increased, she regained her sight."

"Last week, she regressed, and the dosages were increased. Thursday night, the physician examined her and said she had only three hours to live. The dosage was increased again, and although the mortician was called and present, and the death certificate was signed, she is still alive, and she is improving."

Shipment Banned

Krebiozen has been banned from inter-state shipment by the Federal Drug Administration and is legally available only in Illinois where it is manufactured by its discoverer, Dr. Steven Durovic.

The Krebiozen cause is not the first Dr. Ivy has led against awesome opposition. In a crusade of several years, Dr. Ivy finally was instrumental in bringing action by the Federal Trade Commission which won him the title of "the man who took the 'Liver' out of Carter's Little Liver Pills."

Dr. Ivy, former vice president of the University of Illinois, has authored and co-authored over 1,500 scientific papers. He holds a medical degree from Rush Medical College, Chicago, a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago, and many honorary degrees, including one from the University of Nebraska.

Now Goldy Wants A Probe

ON HIS OWN GAP CLAIMS

Washington (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater asked Friday for a full-scale Senate probe of what he called a dependability gap in America's long-range missiles.

Refusing to back down on his statement that "our intercontinental missiles are not dependable," the Arizona Republican pressed a controversy that could develop the bitterness of the missile gap controversy of the 1960 campaign.

"If I am proven wrong I will be very pleased and happy to admit it," he said, "but if there is a lack of dependability I do not believe the American people should be lulled into a false feeling of security by numbers and statistics . . ."

Goldwater, asserting he probably would "catch hell" for doing so, raised the issue at a news conference in Portsmouth, N.H., Thursday while campaigning for the GOP presidential nomination.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara promptly issued a statement accusing the senator of damaging the national security with what McNamara called a completely misleading and politically irresponsible reference to the nation's intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"It seems strange to me," Goldwater said in his statement Friday, "that the secretary of defense would call a dependability gap a political issue when the missile gap, so profuse in the 1960 campaign, wasn't so considered by his present associates. And it was a gap, by the way, that never existed, as the secretary and his associates well know."

Goldwater called for hearings by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, of which he is a member. The subcommittee is headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an active rival for the presidential nomination Goldwater seeks, was asked at a National Press Club appearance if his faith in the nation's missile program had been shaken by Goldwater's remarks. He said, "No."

HE GAVE HER AN ENGAGEMENT RING

Actress Natalie Wood has been wearing a big new engagement ring from Arthur Loew, Jr., with whom she is shown in a recent photo. Loew's divorce from the former Debbie Power recently became final. Friends say the actress and Loew, a movie executive, have not set a wedding date.

Rocky: LBJ Can't Deliver

. . . . . SAYS EITHER HE OR GOLDY CAN WIN

Washington (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday President Johnson promised the American people a bargain basement package in his State of the Union message that just won't be delivered.

The Republican presidential aspirant also told a National Press Club audience that either he or Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the only other announced contender for the GOP nomination, could beat Johnson this November.

Discussing politics, Rockefeller said he thinks Johnson will be harder to beat than the late President Kennedy would have been.

He said he would support and work for Goldwater — or any other Republican nominee — "and he will win."

As to his own campaign, Rockefeller promised to go "all the way" to seek the nomination and would not withdraw if he should lose in the first-in-the-nation primary in New Hampshire March 10.

He promised to "leave no stone unturned" in seeking the nomination and would try to get support in every state. This was in response to a question whether Rockefeller would seek votes in the south.

The governor, during a period of questions, said his own confidence in U.S. missile strength had not been shaken by Goldwater's remark Thursday that U.S. long-range missiles are not dependable. This claim is disputed by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Rockefeller was asked to comment on the capabilities of the intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"Up until yesterday, I thought they were pretty good," the governor cracked.

Cassini Fined And Put On Probation

Washington (AP) — Igor Cassini, former syndicated columnist who wrote as Cholly Knickerbocker, was fined $10,000 and put on six months probation Friday for failing to register as an agent for the Dominican Republic.

A similar sentence was handed to R. Paul Englehardt, 76-year-old New York attorney who had been indicted with Cassini last February.

In imposing the sentences in U.S. District Court, Chief Judge Matthew F. McGuire said, "I don't read any sinister overtones in this act." But the judge said the law is clear in providing that all people doing work for a foreign government have to register.

With P. R. Firm
Cassini's indictment resulted from his operation of a public relations firm which did work for the former Trujillo government. Englehardt helped set up the firm. The indictment charged that since June 1959 the two had failed to file with the Justice Department as agents for the Dominican Republic but had received $150,000 from that government for their work.

Cassini and Englehardt filed "no contest" pleas last Oct. 8. They had registered as agents for the Dominican Republic before entering the plea.

Louis Nizer, attorney for Cassini, told the court the columnist no longer works for the New York Journal-American and that the public relations firm he had built up over the past six years "was in a shambles" two weeks after he was indicted. He was suspended from his columnist job after the indictment.

Nizer, recounting Cassini's other troubles, said his wife had taken her life and that he now is supporting his three children by working with his brother, Oleg Cassini, a dress designer.

Among the appointees were one American and three eastern bishops. The naming of the eastern churchmen apparently was intended to solidify moves for Christian unity which have taken on new importance since Pope Paul's meetings with Eastern Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras I of Constantinople in the Holy Land Sunday and Monday.

The Pope appointed 12 men to council commissions completing a reshuffle sought by council liberals who complained that conservatives — through their control of many bodies — were holding up work of the historic gathering.

Another reason for Saturday's visit may be that Paul wants to discuss with Segni the possibility of a papal visit to the United States. Segni will depart Monday night for a six-day U.S. visit that will include talks with President Johnson. Johnson told the Pope Sunday he would like to meet with him, and the pontiff's reaction was favorable.

Observers considered

Washington (AP) — Last year gain in jobs over December saw employment pass the 70-million mark for the first time, but the Labor Department said Friday that unemployment at year's end stubbornly remained at the same level it had registered in December 1962.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a decline in unemployment for December that dropped the percentage of unemployed 0.4% on a seasonally adjusted basis back to the level it held in October. Unemployment hovered most of 1963 at 5.7% through most of December.

Total employment for December was reported at 68.6 million, a drop of 700,000 from November, but still 1.1 million over December of the previous year. This 1.1-million

At the same time, total unemployment went down 100,000 to 3.8 million during December, a period when it normally increases by that amount.

Two Ord Men Die In Blaze

... ASPHYXIATION BLAMED

Ord (P) — Two elderly men were asphyxiated Friday when fire broke out in their home here.

Moscow Puts Lie Label On CIA's Report

London (P) — Moscow Radio Friday night denounced as "another anti-Soviet fabrication" the report of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) that Russia is in deep economic trouble.

The English-language broadcast monitored here said in part:

"There is nothing surprising about the fact that Washington has come up with another anti-Soviet fabrication. This is not the first, and probably not the last."

"The new departure is that this one comes from the Central Intelligence Agency. The agency can always claim to have some secret sort of information. However, this trick with secret information fell flat. To begin with, the CIA has greatly spoiled its reputation in the eyes of the Americans in connection with U.S. intelligence action in Cuba and South Viet Nam."

"What is most important, however, is that the widely accessible data about the Soviet economy that is available in the United Nations and many American organizations and institutions proves just the opposite of what the CIA says."

In the past 46 years the Soviet Union became a greater power, despite the most dismal forecasts and "the Soviet Union is confidently overtaking the United States."

GOP Convention Formally Called

Washington (P) — The Republican National Committee issued its formal call for the 1964 national convention Friday, setting July 13 as the opening date for the GOP presidential nominating session in Daley City, a suburb of San Francisco.

The committee also gave formal approval to the allocation of delegates by states, each of which had been notified previously of its quota.

The total number of official delegates eligible to participate was set at 1,308.

Curtis' Tax Plan OK'd By Senate Group

By the Associated Press

The Senate Finance Committee Friday approved an amendment to the tax bill which Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said will be of great benefit to colleges, hospitals, churches and other charitable institutions.

Sen. Curtis, who offered the amendment, said it permits the individual taxpayer to carry forward for five years charitable contributions exceeding the yearly allowance.

The present law provides that an individual can contribute up to 20% of his income to charity, or up to 30% to some specific charities such as churches, hospitals, or colleges, Curtis said in a statement from his Washington office.

Petska apparently had tried to escape. He was found lying near the storm door which was latched.

The fire apparently had been smoldering for several hours.

Towl To Check Details On Iowa Boundary Plan

Omaha (P) — The chairman of the Nebraska Boundary Commission said Friday that before he makes a recommendation to the legislature he will have to thoroughly look in to the details of a proposal that Iowa cede Carter Lake to Nebraska.

The Iowa proposal provides the town retain the option of remaining outside Omaha.

The commission head, Roy N. Towl of Omaha, said he wanted to hear from the attorney general "on how far we can go and how far we should go."

Attorney General Clarence Meyer said he assumes that what is involved is a policy matter and therefore a solution would be up to legislators.

Gov. Frank Morrison said he thinks it would take a legislative act to make effective a boundary agreement with Iowa in which the town of Carter Lake could be protected against annexation by Omaha.

Carter Lake is an Iowa community on the Nebraska side of the Missouri River.

Morrison said he is anxious to settle the matter of an Iowa-Nebraska boundary as soon as possible and with a minimum amount of friction.

Extra Pair Of Legs Keeping Corky Alive

By GENE BUDIG

West Point—This little pig has reason to do a jig. It's market free—and possibly headed for a career in show business.

"There just aren't many like Corky around," said his master, Don Kreikemeier.

You see, the slippery fellow has six legs.

"Those two extra legs have kept him alive," the West Point farmer admitted.

The pig's brothers and sisters are long gone to market. Kreikemeier said Corky was born last April in a litter of eight and "he wasn't much to look at . . . he still isn't."

Soaking wet, the unique animal might weigh 80 pounds.

Other hogs his age top the scale at more than 250 pounds.

But Kreikemeier still has hopes for his non-paying friend.

"He may make it as a carnival attraction someday," he said.

The master pointed to Corky's successful debut at the Cuming County Fair last summer.

"Everybody wanted to see him . . . I should have charged admission," he noted.

Right now, the six-legged pig has five loyal and attentive fans.

"The kids just love him," Kreikemeier added. He's got the run of the barnyard."

Authority Will Assess Low-Cost Housing, Continue At Huskerville

By VIRGIL FALLOON

Star Staff Writer

The City Housing Authority agreed Friday to assess Lincoln's low-cost housing needs for minority and aged groups and its responsibility for helping to solve the problem.

The authority also declared its intent to continue to operate the Huskerville housing area, noting "there's a definite need for this low-cost housing."

Mayor Dean Petersen, meeting with authority members, requested that the housing group "re-assess its total responsibility" and make a report on its findings "in the next 30 days, if possible."

Committee Named

Authority Chairman Nate C. Holman appointed J. Phillip Mahoney and Lawrence A. Eneren to make the committee study.

Several weeks ago, Eneren, as chairman of a Mayor's Council on Human Relations committee, had recommended that the Housing Authority had the power and finances to aid in providing low-cost housing where needed by the city outside of the Huskerville facility.

Business Manager Joe Clark reported that the authority has $55,000 invested in U.S. bonds as surplus funds and a working cash balance of $19,000.

The authority operates 283

units in the Huskerville Housing Area at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Clark said the 100% occupancy includes 202 Air Force families, 58 University of Nebraska students, 16 miscellaneous, and 6 employees of the authority.

The housing is available at an average of $52 per month to low-income families. There is a waiting list.

The Lincoln Airport Authority leases the Huskerville area to the Housing Authority for $5,000 per year, as successor to a 10-year-old lease expiring June 1.

Increase Indicated

The airport board has indicated it will seek to double the lease rental, but Mayor Petersen advised the housing board to do no negotiating for 30 days with the airport board.

"Meanwhile," he said, "I'll be talking with Mr. Beck and a different situation may develop."

Leo J. Beck Jr. is the Airport Authority's chairman.

The lease was transferred to the airport authority when control over airport property—but not ownership which remains vested in the City of Lincoln—was transferred to the Airport Authority.

There has been some speculation at City Hall that direct control over the Huskerville property may be transferred to the Housing Authority when the present 10-year lease expires.

Sources indicated that several City Council members and Mayor Petersen are prepared to intervene in any friction between the two city agencies.

Housing authority members are A. C. Glandt, Carroll Thompson, Mahoney, Eneren and Holman.

U.S. Okays More Wheat To Russians

Washington (P) — Export licenses were issued Friday for the sale of an additional $101 million worth of wheat to the Soviet Union.

If the proposed sales are closed, they will bring to about $300 million the total shipments of U.S. surplus wheat authorized to Iron Curtain countries.

This is about the total the Soviets said they had in mind when they began negotiating for American grain last November.

An official of the Commerce Department indicated in announcing the latest export licenses, however, that there may be still further deals to come.

Names of the firms obtaining the licenses were not announced. The officials said the authorizations were in the hunting license category, which means that final sales contracts have not been completed.

A similar tag was placed on licenses issued last Tuesday for the export of $42 million worth of wheat to Russia.

The commerce Department said the proposed sales authorized Friday would be for cash.

Altogether, licenses have now been issued for the sale of $271 million worth of wheat to Russia and $29 million worth to Hungary, Bulgaria and East Germany.

The total amount authorized for shipment to Iron Curtain countries was estimated at 150 million bushels.

Different Points Of View

By WILLIAM

Nowhere but in the area of international relations can you find the vast differences of opinion that exist on certain matters of current concern to the world. Of course, we expect from Russia to see an outlook that is quite different from our own and an interpretation of events unlike our own. She ran true to form in commenting upon the State of the Union message of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Kremlin was not at all unhappy with the address. In fact, the Reds welcomed the President's announced reduction in military expenditures.

The Reds, too, pretty well figured the cut for what it is—a reduction with no real effect upon our security. Thus, since the spending cut is not really a cut in armaments since we maintain about the same power position, the action is hardly a monumental one in terms of general disarmament. Just the same, the Reds granted that the action was "not a bad symptom." This is just about the way the situation is viewed from our vantage point.

But the communists did not leave it there. "The reduction of military expenditure—contrary to previous years when it constantly grew—is to some extent an attempt to take into consideration the mood and opinions of the masses, especially in the presidential pre-election period," said a Moscow commentator.

Just what is this "mood and opinions" of which the commentator speaks? It certainly is no mood in favor of communism nor any opinion that communism does not constitute a major threat to the free world. The forces behind the cut were economy and confidence in our retaliatory striking power.

Not all differences of opinion, however, are found between communism and capitalism. A sticky situation had developed between the United States and Britain as a result of the latter's sale to Cuba of 400 buses and $1,100,000 worth of spare parts. The deal is considered by the U.S. as a flagrant violation of its boycott of the Latin American communist stronghold. The U.S. carries on no trade with Cuba and has banned from U.S. ports any ships that engage in trade with Castro. As a result of the latter, the buses will be shipped to Cuba in East German freighters, a further gain for communist trade. The company making the sale has commented: "You would look damn silly going to war in a bus. Anyway, we haven't any war with Cuba and we buy sugar from them."

"Japan, too, has become a big buyer of

O. DOBLER

Cuban sugar and Spain has been expanding its trade links with the Cuban dictator. Such action could bring a reversal in the decline to practically nothing of free world trade with Cuba brought about to date as a result of U.S. efforts to cut the island off from Western markets. In Spain, newspapers gave prominence to the Cuban-British bus deal. One newspaper criticized the U.S. for trying to halt the bus deal while selling wheat to Russia. It asked: "Is it that the United States treats Khrushchev with greater consideration because Russia is a great power?" Does our sale of wheat, it might have been asked, display our greed or a fear of Russia? Neither, but convincing Spain of that is more difficult than proclaiming it.

We find in the disputed bus transaction both a difference of opinion and an example of Western weakness. As to the former, the English bus dealer is wrong when he says we are not at war with Cuba. He is wrong, too, when he justifies his action with the claim that you don't go to war in buses. These are, at best, surface excuses that even a child could see through.

If the division between East and West is not a war of ideas and ideals, then we don't know what it is. And if economic factors are not vital in this war, then we had better take another look at things as we are proceeding on a false premise.

A case against the United States can be made on its sale of wheat to Russia but to do so is to mix many things that really have nothing in common. For one thing, trade with Russia and trade with Cuba are two different things. Cuba today is under an abortive form of government which cannot in any sense be recognized as legitimate. Too, the sale of wheat to Russia has been proposed in the face of continued lack of cooperation with the U.S. from her allies. It is of little value to the U.S. to continue to refuse all trade with Russia when by doing so we only improve the marketing conditions for other Western nations which insist upon such trade.

The sale of wheat to Russia and the sale of buses to Cuba simply are not the same thing, despite the fact that some nations may view them the same in an effort to justify what is for them an economically advantageous position. The West can take little pride in the way in which it allows the profit motive to dominate its national interests.

Mighty Brief Boom

The transitory and very fragile boom of Ted Sorenson as the Democratic opponent of Sen. Roman Hruska this fall has dissipated, like a wisp of smoke going downwind.

Mr. Sorenson has said that he is not at all interested. Rather he will address himself to the biography of the Kennedy administration. This is, of course, what he should do as a high service to America. No one can write with more authority on the subject, and no one with facts in hand can express them so well.

Sorenson's Nebraska senatorial boom was mostly a conversation piece and a very wistful one. He has already attained a level of public significance beyond that which Nebraska can offer. His future is secure in terms of personal satisfaction and achievement. His deepest interest naturally lies elsewhere than in a home state

Nebraska's Power Interests

When Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison and representatives of the state's Power Review Board visit in Washington this month with Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall, it is hoped they are able to convince the secretary of the shortcomings in Bureau of Reclamation practices. From Nebraska's experience, the bureau is not realistic in its procedures of allocation of power from Missouri River dams.

By timing its approval of allocations too closely to the day of need, the bureau leaves Nebraska in an impossible situation. It is impossible to see how any other states could be much better off than Nebraska. Power supplies must be planned far in advance and bureau practices do not provide for this.

The bureau bases allocations on needs of the future but does so at such a late date as to leave a state high and dry if

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

They were still talking about the Huskers and their fans when we left Miami . . . everywhere.

And when the game was finally (longest second half we can remember) over, the Husker spirit had reaped its rewards. Victory — and more.

We saw Auburn fans ask departing Nebraskans if they could buy some of their red badges and decals. Some alums waiting aboard a special bus which would take them back to their hotel can tell you about the Auburn student who stood in the aisle for a few moments to sing the praises of Nebraska. We talked to a family from Auburn at the Miami air terminal that night, and they couldn't say enough about the Huskers, a bout Walton

The Huskers attracted raves for their first half onslaught. They went for the jugular early—and they had it, according to these slightly prejudiced eyes which watched Frank Solich go all the way . . . without stepping out of bounds. Impressive opportunists, the local press wrote in summing up the Husker first half.

The NU band won its duel with Auburn, too—and finished undefeated for the season. Like the gridders, the band struck first and stayed ahead.

And the Cornhusker spirit—best symbolized by thousands of little red N-caps—was the talk of the town. The Miami News suggested that Husker fans, their "cocky" caps, their badges, their decals, their tonsils and their spirit deserve a special chapter when the long history of the Orange Bowl is finally recorded.

It was that way all over the Miami area, from Fort Lauderdale to the tip of Miami Beach — red caps and badges everywhere you went. We saw them on a rainy visit to the Seaparum, in the hotels, the restaurants and the lounges, on the streets in downtown Miami.

A visit to Key West reminds you how close Mr. Castro is to the southern extremity of the U.S. A morning flight southward over the beautiful Florida keys gives you a peaceful view of sailboats and pleasure yachts—but, it all ends abruptly when you slide onto the Key West runway past clusters of Hawk missiles pointed skyward.

The taxi driver tells you they went up during the 1962 Cuban crisis, and they are now permanent.

The island is dotted with radar units, and the Army has taken over a large hotel to serve as a headquarters building.

Barbed wire surrounds military sites.

A quick trip through the naval base reveals a number of submarines. No pictures allowed.

The cab driver suggested that it was all nothing: "You should have been here during the Cuban thing when the beach was strewn with barbed wire, machine guns, and pillboxes. That was something."

The Miami area enjoyed its largest avalanche of tourists ever to visit South Florida during the Christmas-New Year's holiday.

Wrote the Miami News:

"From Sunny Isles to Key West, they'll be talking about this one for years to come. Not only did visitors arrive in record numbers, but they spent like money was going out of style."

Miami greets about 7 million tourists a year. But with it all go problems which the rest of us don't have to face. Like the dread beach erosion which is washing away 12 feet of beach front a year at Deerfield Beach, lesser amounts at Lauderdale and other points. Crash programs to halt it are in the works—at any cost.

South Floridians have done something about parking meters too—they're yanking them out in town after town at the request of downtown merchants and to the delight of motorists.

One more thing: You may have heard that it was cloudy over the holidays in Miami. But that ain't the way the Miami radio stations see it. The weather, they said, was "partly sunny."

DREW PEARSON

Power Blocs Slow Cigarette Report

WASHINGTON — Sometimes it takes a long while to protect the health of the American public, especially when big and powerful industry, powerful advertising, and a powerful farm bloc are involved.

It was on May 8, 1954, that this column first reported the danger of lung cancer from cigarette smoking and the courageous battle of Dr. Alton Ochsner of Tulane University to warn the public. At that time Dr. Ochsner was almost alone. And this column for a time was almost alone in publicizing his findings.

That was 1954. This is now 1964. It has taken ten years for the United States government to act courageously in announcing the dangers of cigarettes and that announcement is due to be published today.

In between there has been an amazing story of procrastination and cover-up. There was the interesting television treatment of Surgeon General Leroy Burney's announcement warning that cigarettes do cause lung cancer as reported in this column January 12, 1960.

The TV networks considerably held up the announcement until the cigarette industry—which includes some of the biggest sponsors—could reply.

There was also the frantic attempt by Philip Morris to pressure Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., to change or withdraw his article in Harper's magazine which criticized Parliament's "recessed filter," and Marlboro's "white ash," as reported in this column July 30, 1958. The cigarette company's public relations man even went to Harper's editor, John Fischer, and tried to persuade him to withdraw the article.

It was a little over one year ago, November 13, 1962, that this column reported on the first, rather reluctant start of the U.S. Public Health Service to study cigarettes.

Surgeon General Luther Terry warned that there were too many economic, public, political, and other factors involved and implied that these factors would have devastating repercussions. The experts who met to consider cigarettes were immediately given a report on the importance of tobacco to American agriculture.

The strategy of the cigarette industry during all these years was that more research was necessary. And today, believe it or not, the American Medical Association has played squarely into the hands of the industry by announcing a new investigation of smoking.

This tactic is difficult to understand in view of the fact that earlier the AMA had given its approval to the panel of doctors appointed under the Kennedy administration to make a report on cigarettes. This is the panel which is reporting officially today.

reappraisal for the selfless brother who gave John F. Kennedy a measure of devotion and service rarely seen.

A Robert Kennedy-Johnson relationship can never be really easy. The two men are too unlike in personality and outlook. Such differences can be and often are crucial in politics. It is reliably said that these and the political future of the various Kennedys figured in family discussions, with differing opinions expressed before the old team stayed on in the same old way.

Accounts of it lift the curtain slightly on the many areas in which he wielded enormous power far beyond the purview of the Justice Department. They reveal that he will maintain a special relationship with the Central Intelligence Agency and carry on advisory tasks in foreign policy.

But Robert Kennedy can hardly remain the President's political voice at the White House and deep within party councils, with his personal lieutenants here, there and everywhere.

There is need for caution elsewhere in seeking his replacement. The labor, minority, intellectual and independent allies on whom a Democratic nominee relies for war chests, ideas and spokesmen were well represented in the Kennedy administration. They had so much that they found themselves able to forgive the late President's conservative leanings.

But the new President's conservative actions as majority leader alarmed them to such an extent that they cast their weight against him at Los Angeles in 1960. Copyright, 1964, by Bell-McClure Synd.

Kenyans are a social group. Now free, there was a time when they came under the "big brother" sort of colonialism. They were allowed to learn modern languages, attended schools, dress in white. But 10 years ago this condition changed and their leaders were hounded and insulted. Before this, they were a gentle people of herdsmen and tillers.

Every continent has been crammed with colonies. We were the 13 who wrought freedom. Canada's 10 were colonies before they were dominions. Large countries such as China were cut into five parts by the European consortium in 1915. Persia was split by another cabal. South America's 20 or more were bloody colonies before the advent of Bolivar. Africa was cut into pie-slices by three powers.

Let us look forward to total peace, now that there is independence. Let each unit defend democracy. It's the best bet.

New Venture Requires Enthusiasm And Ideas

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q. "I'm 46 and torn between sticking with my safe berth as lingerie buyer in a department store making $9,000 a year, or quitting and striking out for myself running a women's wear store in a new shopping center. How can one decide?"

A. The decision should rest on how much you want to be in business for yourself. If you have a gnawing desire to run your own business, are sure there's a market for women's wear in the area, and are fairly bursting with ideas and enthusiasm for running your own shop—then this is for you. But if your interest is only casual and you don't particularly care if you work for yourself or others, I'd say you are temperamentally best suited to remain in someone else's employ.

Q. "There's a saying that growing old is just a matter of a man's machinery slowing down until the old flivver finally comes to a creaky halt. But I'm the reverse of this theory. As a youth I was weak, sickly, and frail. Even at 21 nobody thought I'd live. But as I grew older I put on weight, became stronger, and developed my vigor and resistance. Today, at 68, I'm physically at my peak. What does this prove?"

A. It proves that old sayings can be dead wrong. Of course, most people enjoy maximum strength and vitality in their 20's and 30's. But if a person follows basic health rules and continues to get exercise, eat properly, and keep his weight down, he stands a good chance of delaying the aging process and retaining his physical vitality well beyond the age when the majority have begun to experience losses.

Q. "I am fed up with old people. I'm 72 and no spring chicken myself, but I tried to organize a golden age club and tried to whip interest in chartering a bus now and then for elders. I even tried to get my contemporaries interested in petitioning for a housing project for the aged in our community. But they didn't respond. They'd rather sit at home and complain that they're neglected."

A. Some elders are like the ones you describe. But they're not typical. Generally, if there's proper leadership older people can be quickly recruited to do a host of worthwhile things in the community. Those in charge have to be patient and persistent and persuasive, for older people are often skeptical of innovations and new ideas. They have felt neglected so long that they find it difficult to believe anyone is interested in helping them improve their situations.

Q. "Would you agree that poor health is the major cause of unhappiness among older people?"

A. No. Less than 10% of all people past 65 are afflicted with what could be termed poor health. Most studies suggest that such unhappiness as exists among elders is due to an inability to use leisure time in a satisfying fashion.

Q. "I would like a booklet, 'Basic Health Rules for Older People,' written in this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs."

City Is Empowered To Enact Its Drunk Driving Ordinance

The city of Kearney is empowered to enact an ordinance prohibiting persons from driving in the city while under the influence of alcoholic liquor, the State Supreme Court said Friday in affirming a conviction on this charge in Buffalo County District Court.

The constitutionality of the ordinance had been challenged by Delmar Lockabill, who was convicted of the offense.

But the Supreme Court ruled the municipal court had erred in suspending Lockabill's drivers license for six months. The high court ordered it reinstated on the grounds that the state has sole jurisdiction over drivers' licenses.

The Supreme Court, however, said the ordinance prohibiting drunk driving was a legitimate exercise of authority delegated to the city by the state.

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Reversed the Hall County District Court for the second time in the same motor vehicle liability case.

It upheld a lower court's award filed by Constance Joanne Ripp, administrator of the estate of her late husband, Richard F. Ripp, against Charles Riesland and Elmer Riesland, his father. The two men were held responsible for the death of her husband in a motor vehicle accident with Charles Riesland was dismissed in district court.

—Affirmed the finding of the Dodge County District Court that an agreement by Leland Marasen to let Ralph E. Metzke use a truck did not constitute an illegal time sales contract.

It also upheld the trial court ruling that Metzke owned Marasen 31,443 for damages to the truck while Metzke had.

Metzke was employed by Marasen, a truck and bus company, and agreed to go into the same business himself.

—Sustained the dismissal of a Workmen's Compensation claim by the Doug Crowe Co. of Cedar Rapids.

Iris Crow, administrator of the estate of Allen B. Crow, her late husband, brought the action against the Doug Crowe Co. of Cedar Rapids.

She contended he died in an accident while working for the company but the district court upheld the position of the Doug Crowe Co. that the insurance contractor was doing work for it and not under the Workmen's Compensation scope.

The district court dismissed it on the grounds the statute of limitations barred the action.

—Rejected the Buffalo County District Court in a divorce case involving child support.

Stacy D. Erdeling brought the suit against Bernard F. Erdeling.

The Supreme Court said the district court was without authority last January to award child support to Stacy Erdeling for his support of their six children without giving her proper notice. They were divorced in 1956.

U.S. Symbol Meets Chopsticks

By CHARLES E. WIESER
United Press International
Bread, long the symbol of sustenance in America, has felt the touch of chopsticks in Japan.

The results these past few years have been gratifying in both the wheatlands of the United States and in Japan. The Japanese are happy because they have found a new food with great nutritional value and one which is in plentiful supply. U.S. wheat growers are happy because Japan with its small land area and population of 85 million has become the prized cash wheat market in the Far East.

More than 34 million bushels of wheat from the United States found an eager outlet in Japan during the past fiscal year.

U.S. Wheat growers for some years have coveted the Japanese market. But they knew that in order to crack the market they would have to overcome a formidable obstacle -- changing the diet habits rooted in centuries of tradition.

Since 1960, the Reader's Digest grants to the journalism school have totaled $3,500.

Sadi operated Tucker's Restaurant in North Platte.

Buy Stamps with every purchase at Miller's, the Quality Department Store in the Midwest.

An exceptionally good start has been made in that direction, according to Gary Whitley, chief of the Nebraska Wheat Commission.

Nebraska, located in the heartland of America, the sprawling Midwest, annually produces much more wheat than its 1.5 million inhabitants can use.

Change In Tastes

Whitley said a touring delegation of Japanese millers, bakers and elevator managers last summer said their countrymen's food tastes were "swinging to a more western type appetite" with the emphasis on meat, bread and other flour products. Whitley said that bread and flour products were not too extensively used in Japan until after World War II.

In attempts to convert Japanese tastes to appreciation of wheat products, those heading the efforts went straight to the Japanese stomach. They did this with a unique "kitchen on wheels" idea. The kitchens were nutrition education buses staffed by Japanese nutritionists and financed by wheat growers and the Japanese government. The buses were sent throughout the country to teach Japanese housewives how to prepare and cook meals with American wheat.

In addition, hundreds of bakers were brought into training schools where they were taught how to use American wheat in quality foods which would compete in a taste test in a nation long accustomed to rice.

U.S. wheat growers, again in cooperation with the Japanese government, also helped push a school lunch program.

It includes sliced bread or a small loaf for each child. Today two out of every three Japanese school children—an estimated 18 million—eat some American wheat at lunch daily.

Visited Fields

As part of the cooperative program, Japanese teams of wheat and food experts have visited harvest fields, grain elevators and other wheat production and processing facilities in the great plains of the U.S. In turn, U.S. wheat farmers have visited Japan to see first hand how their wheat was being fitted into the Japanese pattern of living.

In 1962, great plains wheat began hitting the Japanese market with a much increased impact. Until that year, the freight rates on wheat bound for the Orient had been prohibitive for wheat raised in the great plains. But then growers persuaded five railroads to lower rates so grain could be shipped straight west at a price permitting competition with Canada.

During fiscal 1962—or the April 1, 1962 to March 31, 1963 period—Japan significantly increased imports of U.S. wheat for the first time since 1956. Total U.S. wheat sales to Japan amounted to 34,399,956 bushels, 4.5 million bushels more than during the previous year. During the same period Canadian sales decreased 5,659,944 and those from Australia declined 2,913,482.

Other possibilities would be flights from Grand Island to Scottsbluff, bypassing North Platte, or a direct connection between Scottsbluff and Lincoln flying over both North Platte and Grand Island.

The aeronautics director indicated that such an over-flight pattern is also a possibility for the southern Nebraska route which includes Hastings, Kearney and McCook.

Sandstedt is considering having a long-range aviation plan for the state mapped out. It would be based on information given the department from communities which now receive commercial air service or want it.

He said the department would have to hire an expert to analyze the information to resolve conflicting needs and desires and no money is available for such an analysis now.

Worship In Church Every Week

Without ME YOU can do NOTHING

—so the vine said to the branches. Separated from the vine the branch became dead wood. We boast of our strength and the part we play but oh, how dependent on God we really are.

The physical body must have goods we cannot get except they come from God...air, food, water, companionship and even wealth. It is all part of a living universe. By itself all of this would be dead wood.

The Christian without Christ becomes fruitless...dead.

The human is nothing apart from the divine. God not only created life, He also sustains it. Our health, strength, success are all God's gift.

Better stop Mister, long enough to give Him credit.

Without Him we can do nothing.

Brides At Afternoon Weddings

Miss Mary Patricia Pagano, formerly of Lincoln, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Pagano of Staten Island, N. Y., became the bride of David Joseph D'Agostino, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph V. D'Agostino of Staten Island, at a 4 o'clock wedding on Sunday, Dec. 29. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Vincent F. Clyne at Sacred Heart Church in Staten Island.

Wearing Empire frocks of satin in ruby red with matching raffia coats were the maid of honor, Miss Celeste D'Agostino, sister of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaids, Miss Carol Reigi and Mrs. Daniel F. Brown, all of Staten Island. They carried muffs of white carnations.

Alan Anderson served as best man, and sealing the guests were Thomas Costantino and Daniel F. Brown, Staten Island.

The Service Circles Activity

By SUE DRAKE
The Officers' Wives' Club held its monthly luncheon at the Officers' Club on Jan. 8. The president, Mrs. Bob Beaudro, took this opportunity to welcome Mrs. Lee Wiseman to Lincoln Air Force Base and to the Officers' Wives' Club. Mrs. Wiseman is the wife of Col. Lee Wiseman, Commander of the 98th Bombardment Wing.

One of the speakers was Mrs. William D. Douglas who gave most interesting resumes on some of the latest books. Also speaking were Chief Hawkins and Sgt. Williams on the subject of fire prevention.

Capt. and Mrs. William Carrier recently hosted a party in their home. Their guests included Maj. and Mrs. Glen Hester, Capt. and Mrs. Don Stallard, Capt. and Mrs. John Fenimore, Capt. and Mrs. John Daley, and Capt. and Mrs. Everett Vaughn.

The Green Room at the Officers' Club was the scene of a farewell coffee in honor of Mrs. Norman Mazurek. Lt. and Mrs. Mazurek left recently for Big Springs, Tex. The coffee was hosted by Mrs. Timothy De Goure and Mrs. William Jean. The guests included Mrs. Henry Lijedahl, Mrs. Lee Craft and her mother, Mrs. Gillian, Mrs. Henry Fischer, Mrs. Paul Foley, Mrs. James Gebara, Mrs. William Steever, Mrs. H. B. Johnson, Mrs. John Grove, Mrs. Roland Allen, Mrs. James Fitzpatrick, Mrs. August Mendeke, Mrs. Cletus Kuhla, and Mrs. John Zen-yuh.

Mrs. Clayton McCartney entertained her bridge group Jan. 7 at her home. Those enjoying the evening were Mrs. Jack Dale, Mrs. Howard Rose, Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Mrs. Robin Julian, Mrs. Bruce Caldwell, Mrs. Wilson Talbot, and Mrs. James Forges. Winning high was Mrs. Stevenson; second, Mrs. McCartney; and low, Mrs. Rose.

Mrs. Eugene Alley entertained a group of friends this past week with a bridge party. Those in attendance were Mrs. Delwin Bopp, fashioned of red and white carnations.

Serving Mr. Mathieu as best man was Wesley Dickey of Waco, and the ushers were Bill Newstrom, brother of the bride, and Jerry McArthur.

For her wedding costume, the bride chose white brocade designed in the daytime mode. The Empire bodice was fashioned with brief cap sleeves and detailed by a small, flat bow at the waist above the slightly flared skirt. Her hat of velvet petals was veiled with illusion, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathieu will make their home in Lincoln at 1400 No. 44th.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

EASTBOROUGH

Everything seems to change at a very rapid rate these days, including addresses and families. New families have moved in and others have moved out—to distant cities or new areas.

And now since the hustle and bustle of the holidays is over we thought it a perfect time to make several new introductions and welcome these new residents to the suburban areas and to Lincoln.

New neighbors on Prestwick Road who arrived from Lancaster, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. Millard Nicodemus and their children, twins, Kenneth James and Kelly Ann and six-month-old Cristina Nadine.

The Nicodemus family has been living at their new residence since the week before Christmas.

Another new family in the Eastborough area includes Mr. and Mrs. Carl Soflin and their daughter, Betty Soflin, who arrived in their new home on Eastborough Lane Dec. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Soflin and their daughter formerly resided on north 55th St.

Entertaining out-of-town guests at their Eastborough home last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spale and their children, Bryan, Renee, Denise and Jon.

Guests for the birthday celebration in honor of Bryan's sixth, were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Morfeld, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Morfeld Jr., all of Leigh.

EASTRIDGE

The Eastborough area is not the only site for newcomers for our new family in Eastridge, as of last Thursday, includes Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Broady and their children, Jefferson, who is currently attending the University of Michigan, Steven and Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Broady and their family formerly resided in Brownsville before coming to Lincoln.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Lincoln Dec. 21, for their southern holiday and returned home last Sunday.

While in Miami they had the opportunity to see the Orange Bowl parade, and of course, the game.

The McCracken family left Lincoln Dec. 21, for their southern holiday and returned home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kilion assumed the role of host and hostess once more, on Monday evening, when they surprised their daughter-in-law, Mrs. LaVerne Kilion with a birthday dinner and party.

Guests included their son, Laverne; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reiner, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wickensmith, Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Hairg, Mr. and Mrs. George Bast, Miss Jo Ann Smith, Robert Nance, and Mrs. Harold Daugherty.

TOWN TALK

The time has come to speak of many things—and none of it has to do with 'shoes and ships and sealing wax'—Our apologies to the Walrus in 'Alice in Wonderland'—This morning we have news of homecomers—and among them is Mrs. Vance Traphagen who returned to Lincoln Thursday evening after an absence of almost five months. Four of the months were spent on a trip (by air) which took Mrs. Traphagen to Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, numerous countries in Africa—just to name a few places —plus stops here and there along the way. She arrived back in the States on Dec. 21

in time to spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Yates and their family in Riverside, Conn.

And back in town, also, are Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. (Ky) Rohman and their children, Melanie, Carl, Stephen and Peter, who spent the holidays as the guests of Mr. Rohman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Rohman in Miami Beach, Fla. If you are wondering if Mr. and Mrs. Rohman attended the Orange Bowl game the answer is 'of course.'

Arriving home from the West Coast a few days ago were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Hawke who spent the holidays in Santa Barbara,

Calif., where they were the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Larson and their two daughters.

There will be those who are interested in news of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cadwallader of Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Cadwallader and their son, Eric, came to Lincoln to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ned Cadwallader.

The day after Christmas they took off for a two weeks

holiday in Mexico where they spent some time in Mexico City and Acapulco. The three month-old Eric, however, remained in Lincoln with his grandparents.

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Cadwallader did some deep sea fishing while in the Acapulco area, and Mrs. Cadwallader brought in a 150-plus dolphin and some other varieties. We hear they had some interesting fishing companions—a member of the Life Magazine staff and his wife—We can't give you the staffer's

name for the obvious reason

—we don't know it—but you remember who wrote

the article on President Kennedy's Funeral-for-Life—that's him.

Then we learned that Mr.

and Mrs. H. H. Cather returned last Tuesday evening

from Florida and, naturally

the Orange Bowl game. Mr.

and Mrs. Cather arrived home just in time.—They were on hand Wednesday evening when their dining room was punctured by a car that skidded into their house.

But more about the Cad-wers and Florida.—In Ft.

Lauderdale they ran into Mr.

and Mrs. Warren D. Tuttle

of Harrisburg, Ill., who were holidaying in Florida—and who also attended the Neb-braska-Auburn game on New Year's day. We mention

this because there will be

many who will remember

Mrs. June Alice Boward of Lincoln—and a Chi Omega at Nebraska.

Regardless of the fact that their dining room is a bit

disarranged, Mr. and Mrs.

Cather will be entertaining

the members of the Long

Shot club at dinner on Sunday evening at their home.

PEO Founders Day

Secretaries To Hear Talk

Meeting for a 6 o'clock dinner on Monday evening will be the members of the Cornhusker Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

Following the dinner at the University Club, the group will hear a talk on, "Mental Health", by Dr. John D. Baldwin.

Club Meeting

The members of the Friendship Club met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Keats W. Lorenz, 121 No. 28th.

Following a 1 o'clock dessert luncheon, the afternoon hours were spent informally.

Honored At Party

In postnuptial courtesy to Mrs. Richard Amsbaugh, who before her recent marriage on Dec. 11, was Miss Linda Vokoun, Mrs. Mary Robidoux and Mrs. Harold Giddings were hostesses on Sunday, Jan. 5, at the home of Mrs. Giddings.

Twenty-three guests were invited for an informal afternoon, during which a miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree.

All Lincoln PEO members as well as unaffiliated members in the city are invited to attend the organization's annual Founders Day luncheon, to be held at 12:30 o'clock, Saturday, at the Lincoln Hotel.

Officers of the PEO Round Table are in charge of luncheon arrangements and include (seated, from the left) Mrs. H. G. Waldrum, president; Mrs. Keay Hachiya, vice president and Founders Day Program chairman; and Mrs. Arthur G. George, treasurer; and (standing) Mrs. Susan M. Holland, luncheon chairman; Mrs. R. J. Cusack, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Howard A. Stewart, recording secretary.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Many a contract depends upon how the cards are divided in a particular suit.

For example, consider this hand where South is in six notrump. Declarer can count eleven winners after West makes the opening lead, and his only chance of making a twelfth trick lies in bringing home four club tricks instead of three.

Ordinarily, for this to take place, declarer would have to find the clubs divided 3-3. But, in the actual case, South should make his four club tricks and the slam, even though it turns out that the clubs are divided 5-1. More-

It does not help East to play the nine instead of the seven, since South can take it with the queen and return to dummy with a spade for another club lead through East's J-7.

DEAR ABBY

*Abigail
Van Buren*

DEAR READERS: I recently received a letter from a young woman who was enraged with her "narrow-minded" parents because they refused to give her a large church wedding, complete with white gown and veil. She said, "The reason was that, when I was 17 I eloped with a boy the same age, and got pregnant right away. It was a big mixed-up mess. My folks had the marriage annulled and I gave the baby up for adoption."

I replied, "Sorry, I can't help you because I happen to agree with your parents."

Many readers wrote to tell me I was wrong, that the girl was entitled to the kind of wedding she wanted. I had always held that a white wedding gown and veil were symbols of chastity, and to wear them without having earned them would be making a mockery of the ceremony. There appears to be an exception. I quote an article clipped from the Pueblo, Colorado, Catholic Register, sent to me by a reader:

"Q. What does a white veil mean to a bride? I say only a bride who is a virgin should wear a white veil. Are there exceptions?

"A. The Church prescribes only that the bride's dress be decent. To forbid her to wear a white veil if she happens to have lost physical virginity through sin would be to force her to confess her sin in public, which no one is obliged to do.

"What is more, by thus advertising her sin she would actually create scandal and thus help bring virginity into disrepute.

"White is an emblem of virginity and purity. If the bride has confessed before her wedding, and received absolution, she is pure and chaste.

"One is unchaste who clings to unchastity, not one who at some time has done an unchaste act, and since repented.

"Even one who is not physically virgin can have what is formal in the virtue of virginity, his mind being so prepared that he has the purpose of safeguarding the integrity of the flesh, should it be fitting for him to do so (St. Thomas Aquinas, Summa, 11-11, 162, 4, 4)."

—REBOUNDING BATTLE—

Creighton To Face Irish '5' Tonight

By HAL BROWN

Star Sports Editor

Omaha — Two of the nation's top college rebounders will battle for missed shots here tonight when Creighton and Notre Dame meet at 8 p.m. at the Civic Auditorium.

A near-capacity crowd of 10,000 is expected to watch Creighton's Paul Silas and Notre Dame's Ron Reed compete for caroms off the glass backboards.

Silas is the nation's leading rebounder with a 23.0 per game average while Reed ranks sixth with an 18.6 average. The Fighting Irish have another top rebounder in Walt Sahm, who has been averaging 17.8 rebounds per game, ninth best in the nation.

Sahm Sidelined

But Sahm has been sidelined for the last five games with a sprained back. This throws most of the Notre Dame rebounding load on Reed, who also is the Irish's No. 2 scorer with an 18.6 average.

Notre Dame's top point-getter is 6-1 guard Larry Shefield with a 23.1 average.

Silas, a 6-7 senior, also leads the Bluejays scoring attack with a 19.5 average, but coach Red McManus has three other eagles averaging in double figures.

Notre Dame Cage Coach Quits Post

South Bend, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame basketball coach Johnny Jordan resigned Friday in the middle of a disappointing season, explaining he was "deeply hurt" when fans chanted "Jordan must go" at the team's last home game.

"The pressures of big time basketball are what drove me out," he said.

Jordan, who made his surprise resignation effective at the end of this season, said he's through with coaching.

"Twenty-eight years in the business is enough," he said.

Jordan handed his resignation to Notre Dame athletic director Ed (Moose) Krause here just before he flew his team to Omaha, Neb., where the Irish play Creighton to-night.

He gave no reason in his letter and Krause said the coach's only explanation was "I want to get out of coaching and this is a good time to do it, considering the team's record." The Irish have a mediocre four-won, seven-lost record so far in Jordan's 13th season here.

In Omaha, Jordan admitted that the last straw was the "Jordan must go" shouts from some fans Wednesday night after a defeat by traditional rival DePaul.

"That's what did it," Jordan said. "When you get to be my age, it begins to get you. I just can't take these things after 28 years."

"I was deeply hurt," Jordan said, "and as the years get longer you begin to think of your family."

He said he talked the matter over with his wife, Eileen, and they decided that in the interest of their three sons and three daughters he would leave the game.

Jordan's resignation is the second in a month in Notre Dame's athletic department. Last month Hugh Devore, serving as interim football coach for the 1963 season, was moved out to become assistant athletic director.

NELSON PACES NWU SCORING

Dick Nelson leads Nebraska Wesleyan's high-scoring basketball team through the first 12 games with a 19.4 average.

Wesleyan statistics:

Fritz Pointer is scoring at an 11.9 clip, Chuck Officer owns an 11.0 average and Charlie Brown is averaging 10.8 points per game.

Disappointing Season

Notre Dame has been somewhat of a disappointment this season, a factor that could have influenced coach Johnny Jordan to announce his resignation Friday just before the Irish left South Bend, Ind., for Omaha.

The Fighting Irish, picked by some pre-season dopesters to be among the top teams in the nation, have floundered in road games, winning only one of six on foreign courts.

Notre Dame's sole road victory was a 70-68 decision over Northwestern in December. The Irish record for the season is 4-7 with four straight losses since that win over Northwestern.

Creighton is still undefeated at home with both losses — UCLA and Oklahoma City — coming in road engagements. The Bluejays own an 11-2 record for the year.

Loss To No. 1 Team

UCLA has risen to No. 1 in the nation since topping Creighton, 95-79, at Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 21, the same date that Notre Dame scored its last win.

Creighton had been unbeaten going into the UCLA contest. The other Creighton loss came in its last outing a week ago at Oklahoma City.

Creighton business manager Gene Duffy said Friday night an adequate supply of tickets remain for the contest.

Wall Captures Lead In San Diego Open

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — Art Wall Jr. shot a five-under par 65 for a 36-hole score of 136 in the second round of the $30,000 San Diego Open Friday but once again darkness left the issue in doubt until 42 players finish the round Saturday morning.

The 40-year-old Wall had a 34-31-65 over the par 35-35-70 Rancho Bernardo Country Club course for the round that began two hours late due to frozen greens and ended with Bob Rosburg and Arnold Palmer still on the course in darkness.

Rosburg, who had a 66 Thursday, had a 33 for nine holes and won one-under-par after 13 before he had to quit.

Tony Lema, who had a 67 in the first round, was even with par after 13. Palmer, who faded back with a 73 Thursday, was one under after 16.

BLOCKED SHOT . . . Lincoln High's Dennis Wertz (40) blocks shot by Southeast's Steve Bock.

Knights' Late Rally Is Short

. . . WIN NO. 3 FOR LHS

Always ahead, but never in complete command and hanging on at the finish, Lincoln High squeezed out a 62-61 victory over Southeast Friday night before 4,500 fans in Pershing Auditorium.

The smaller, but swifter Links had to put down a stubborn Southeast rally in the closing four minutes and didn't sack up the victory until there were only seven seconds left.

Leading, 61-59, after a basket by Joe Weyand,

Lincoln wrapped up the game when Bob Vasatka dropped in the first of a one-and-one free throw situation. He missed the second and the

Links allowed Southeast's

Steve Bock to drive the length of the floor for a final basket at the bell.

The noisy and hectic game was the noisiest and most hectic in that final four-minute period.

Lincoln had a 58-53 bulge

on three straight free throws

by Vasatka with 3:47 to play

when the Knights made their move.

Bock hit a follow shot and Doug Dvorak slipped in two free throws to make it, 58-57,

Lincoln, with 1:51 to play.

Then reserve Walter Fras, playing after two Links in a

fouled out, got a point

back on a free throw with

:23 to play. A few seconds

later Ron Burgess, another

reserve, gave Southeast a tie

at 59-59 when he canned a shot from close range with 40 seconds left. But that finished

Southeast.

The biggest margin the Links had during the night was eight points and that came at 22-14 early in the second quarter.

The statistics were almost unbelievable. With Bock pouring in 24 points to lead both clubs, Southeast matched the Links in field goals at 20 each. But Lincoln hit 22 of 31 free throws while the Knights were a shade off the pace with 21 of 33.

Although each club connected 20 times from the field Lincoln had by far the better percentage, putting up only 43 shots while Southeast pumped 57 times.

A good part of the difference was that the taller Knights were able to get the second and third shots at the bucket while for the most part Lincoln had to settle for one.

Senior guard Terry Monk directed a delay game that prevented Hastings from scoring until just seven seconds remained and meshed three insurance free throws for the Rockets.

Both teams sputtered in the opening moments of the game. Midway in the first quarter, the Rockets defense moved into a full-court press that completely rattled the visitors.

Trailing, 8-4, Northeast began pilfering passes and shot to an 18-8 lead during a two-minute span.

Hastings pulled back to 18-13 at the quarter stop, then initiated a successful press of its own. The game momentum reversed, Northeast's passing broke down, and Hastings quickly sacked up three layups and a jump shot to pull into a 26-26 tie with 2:49 left in the half.

Wayne Kissler's two free throws moments later gave the Tigers a 28-26 lead—their last of the evening. Northeast's Ron Goldenstein hit a jump shot and free throw in the final minute to give the Rockets a two-point edge at the half.

Goldenstein popped through six points to back up Motz—who had been benched with three fouls for most of the previous period—in the Rockets' 23-point explosion which resulted in a 56-34 difference after three quarters.

Mischief Ended

It was Hastings' turn to make the move in the last quarter. The Tigers clipped off 18 points of a 24-point deficit before Northeast settled down and put an end to the mischief.

The Rockets, now 4-1, travel to South Sioux City tonight.

Huskers Seek 2nd Big 8 Cage Win

By DAVE WOHLFARTH

Star Sports Writer

Nebraska, with some new faces in its starting lineup, will be out for its second Big Eight conference basketball victory when the Huskers square off against the Missouri Tigers at 8:05 p.m. tonight in the NU Coliseum.

The two, plus 6-4 forward Ned Monsees, 6-7 center Ray Bob Carey and 5-11 guard Gary Garner will answer the opening call against the Huskers.

Cipriano, showing a 2-9 mark in his first year at the Husker helm, fears Carey and Price the most. The 6-7 Carey moves exceptionally well for his size and has even been used at guard, according to Cipriano.

Also worrying the Husker mentor is the Tiger fast break. "I'm worried about us getting back on defense," "Slippery Joe" cautioned.

Praise For Huskers

Cipriano praised his own eagles as "looking better" against Iowa State and "moving more, offensively."

"We were more patient and working for a good shot," he remarked.

Cipriano called the Iowa State game "our best whole game" although he thought the Huskers performed well in their two-game series at Southern California.

Frost Play McCook

The Husker freshmen will meet McCook Junior College at 5:45 p.m. in a preview to the varsity clash.

Coach Bob Gates is expected to start 6-9 Brice Pearson, 6-4 Nate Branch, 6-1 Fred Hare, 6-3 Gary Nelbauer and 6-1 Mark Jorgenson for the NU yearlings.

Bob Cebrun, younger brother of the varsity's Harold, was listed as a starter but was slowed when smacked in the jaw in a recent practice session.

Bob Brown, Nebraska football guard, will receive an All-American presentation from the Sporting News at halftime.

. . . LNE SPUTTERS, BUT WINS 4TH

By DON SUMMERSIDE

Star Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast, at times threatening to blow Hastings off the floor, finally settled for a 67-58 decision at Johnson Gymnasium Friday night.

A weird scoring pattern of alternate spurts by each club had the fans on edge throughout the contest.

Although each club connected 20 times from the field Lincoln had by far the better percentage, putting up only 43 shots while Southeast pumped 57 times.

A good part of the difference was that the taller Knights were able to get the second and third shots at the bucket while for the most part Lincoln had to settle for one.

But that was all the Links needed most of the time. Lincoln got a well-balanced scoring output from Weyand, Vasatka, Frank Brill and Dennis Wertz. The latter was the leader with 18 points. He hit 7 of 12 shots from the field and four of six from the line.

The officials were as busy as the players with 45 fouls called in the game.

Lincoln High now has a 3-1 record while Southeast is all even at 3-3.

Wilkinson Sets OU Discussion

... WILL EXPLAIN POSITION

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson will explain his position to university regents in an executive session at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Wilkinson said he asked Dr. George L. Cross, OU president, to call the meeting "so I could clear up several things regarding my position at the university."

Cross said the meeting will be in his office. Newsmen will not be allowed to attend.

Rumors have flown hot and heavy for several months that the 47-year-old coach was on the verge of resigning his post as football coach and athletic director to try for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Wilkinson has maintained throughout that he has not made up his mind and Friday night said there had been no change.

"I honestly don't know and that's the truth," he said. "I'm sorry there have been so many contradictory rumors concerning the situation. I think it has gotten out of hand."

Wilkinson is a registered Democrat but is expected to change his registration to Republican if he decides to enter politics.

His name cropped up in Senate speculation after the death of Sen. Robert S. Kerr Jan. 1, 1963. Before then, he often was mentioned as a possible candidate for governor.

There have been persistent reports during the past week that Wilkinson was awaiting a poll being taken by a Tulsa firm before announcing his decision. But the coach has declined to comment on such a poll.

Wilkinson became head football coach in 1947. His teams have rolled up a string of 145 victories, 29 defeats and four ties, giving him the best record among active coaches.

At one point his teams won 47 straight games, a national record. The Sooners under Wilkinson have won 13 Big Eight Conference titles outright and tied for another.

In case Wilkinson should resign, Gomer Jones, his 50-year-old No. 1 assistant coach, would be in line to succeed him.

Iowa Policeman Killer Gets Life

Montezuma, Iowa (AP) — Gary Lee Wessling, 23, whose parents took him along on a shoplifting excursion when he was only 6 months old, was sentenced to life in prison at hard labor Friday for the murder of a Grinnell policeman.

The thin, bony ex-convict from Des Moines, who became a thief at 15 to finance a costly drug habit, could have been sent to the gallows.
Wessling's knees buckled

noticeably when he heard District Judge R. G. Yoder convict him of first degree murder in the gunshot slaying of Ralph Ogan Jr., 34, and then pass sentence.

Didn't Want To Hang

The physical reaction was one of relief. He feared he'd hang.

A few hours later, Richard Craig, 25, of Des Moines, who was with Wessling when Ogan was slain, pleaded guilty of second degree murder.

Craig had pleaded innocent to a first degree murder indictment, but changed his plea Friday to guilty of the lesser charge. Judge Yoder set Monday for a pre-sentencing hearing.

A third hoodlum involved in the police officer's death, Thomas Kiernan, 23, of Booneville, Iowa, has pleaded innocent to a first degree murder charge.

"I'm happy, very happy,"
said Wessling after he was sentenced.

He Prayed
"I prayed last night. I wasn't sure this morning, but this is the verdict we had hoped for when we changed the plea. I hope to be able to rehabilitate myself."

Wessling first pleaded innocent Dec. 28, but then changed his plea of guilty of an open charge of murder Jan. 3. He waived a delay in sentencing Friday. His court-appointed attorney, Mike Wilson, of Des Moines, said there would be no appeal.

The sentencing came after two-day hearing to fix the degree of Wessling's guilt in the Nov. 13 slaying. Wessling claimed in his own defense that he was "high" on drugs, and had no recollection of the killing.

Ogan was shot dead in the street while investigating a burglary attempt.

Trial of Kiernan, who testified against his buddy Wessling Thursday, is pending understanding among all people.

Fuel Line Trouble Puts Off Gemini Test Firing

Cape Kennedy (UPI) — An electronic impulse that indicated fuel line trouble forced postponement Friday in the test firing of the Titan II rocket that will orbit the first unmanned Gemini spaceship next March.

Scientists weren't entirely sure a malfunction had occurred, but rather than risk damage to the 91-foot rocket, they set back the test until 9 a.m. CST Tuesday.

In the meantime, technicians will have to drain the propellants from the huge fuel tanks of the rocket's first stage, which delivers 430,000 pounds of thrust—or 50% more power than the Atlas missiles which have boosted America's astronauts into orbit.

20 Minutes Shy

The countdown for Friday's scheduled firing proceeded without hitch for four hours and 40 minutes—just 20 minutes shy of ignition—when the first and only snag was encountered.

A test center spokesman said electronic instruments had detected "a possible malfunction" in a valve that controls the flow of propellants to the thrust chamber in the rocket's first stage. The Titan II burns a combination of fuels that ignite when they come in contact with each other.

About two dozen newsmen
and space agency officials had gathered on the windswept cape for the test. Representatives of the Manned Space Flight Center at Houston—where the astronauts now train—were present in the blockhouse.

Full-Tilt Plan
Both the 71-foot first stage and the 20-foot second stage were anchored to a three-story concrete and steel launching pad, and scientists had a planned to run the engines at full tilt for a period of 60 seconds.

Appointed as officers were Leon A. Adelson, first ceremonial master; Ervin E.
Peterson, second ceremonial master; Stanley R. Puritzer, director general; Donald
A. Keys, marshal; C. Earl
Stewart, captain of the guard;
George Preec, outer guard;

not a complete flop since scientists were testing not only the rocket but the firing complex as well. The wiring, blockhouse and other facil-
ties got over a four-hour workout before the process was halted.

The Gemini program is this nation's next step in its drive to reach the moon. The program envisions placing two-man teams in orbit for periods up to two weeks to glean additional information for human expeditions, scheduled to be carried out later this decade.

Judge Puts Up Roadblock IN RACIAL IMBALANCE FIGHT

Albany, N.Y. (AP) — A jurist threw a roadblock Friday in the path of New York state efforts to eliminate racial imbalance in public schools.

Justice Isadore Bookstein of the State Supreme Court struck down Education Commissioner James E. Allen's order directing a Long Island school district to break up an enrollment pattern that created an 80% Negro student body in one elementary school.

Bookstein, acting in a test case brought by a citizens' group, held that Allen's order actually violated a long-standing state law against discrimination in admitting pupils to public schools.

Discriminatory.

In effect, the judge held that Allen's policy would discriminate against white pupils by forcing them out of schools in their own neighborhoods to make room for Negro children.

The immediate effect of Bookstein's ruling was to free the Malverne School Board from Allen's requirement to redistribute pupils among its elementary schools to achieve a more even racial balance.

The school board had defended its policy.

Other school districts in the state, however, had acted or drawn plans, at Allen's request, aimed at ending "de facto segregation" by neighborhood set-ups. The initial reaction in those districts to the Bookstein decision ranged from "wait and see" to "go ahead."

Allen ruled on an appeal by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). The NAACP had complained that pupils in the Malverne school were denied equal educational opportunity because they had few associations with white children.

In support of his findings, Bookstein cited a U.S. District Court decision in a similar controversy in Indiana last year. He said the court held that the U.S. Constitution "neither forbids racial imbalance nor compels racial balance."

May Draft Women

Caracas (AP) — The Venezuelan army may start drafting women for at least six months service in such auxiliary groups as medical and sanitation corps.

NAVY TO DEAL WITH GOONEY BIRDS

Gooney birds are shown on Midway Island where they have been a hazard to planes on the island's runways. The U.S. Navy finally has lost patience with the huge birds—of the albatross family—and has announced a "scientifically conceived and controlled" program for eliminating some of them for the island. The birds have damaged engines, wings, stabilizers, land gear, radar domes and cockpit windshields.

State Adopts Water Norms

... INDUSTRY CAN LIVE WITH CRITERIA'

Minimum water quality standards for Nebraska were adopted Friday by the State Water Pollution Control Council.

The standards are the culmination of more than three years of work.

Chairman Nell Sutton of Blair said, "There isn't an industry in the state of Nebraska that can live with the standards."

Resources Division Chief David Osterhout Thursday voiced the fear they might discourage industry from locating in the state.

Like Other States

Council members disputed this, however. Sutton said the standards are in line with similar ones established by other states. He said most of the ground and underground water in Nebraska now meets

treatment procedures but it
